PORT PHILLIP COASTAL STUDY

Victoria. Environment Protection Authority; Victoria. Ministry for Conservation; Port Phillip

Authority

A study of the Port Phillip coast extending from Barwon Heads to Point Nepean to develop guidelines for its management, protection and improvement. The study involved assessment of: 1) natural and man-made resources; 2) recreational facilities and activities; 3) demands made on the west by recreation, industry, ports and urban developments; 4) public viewpoints; 5) coastal strategies and guidelines; 6) administration and finance. Recommendations for land use of segments of the Port Phillip coast are indicated on a map in terms of: 1) nature conservation; 2) recreation; 3) port usage; 4) unallocated use. Also included are specific guidelines for: 1) a preferred boating facilities strategy; 2) a preferred natural areas strategy; 3) a foreshore acquisition strategy; 4) a preferred access strategy.

22

GROUP FEARS INDUSTRIES WILL CLAIM
WATERFRONT

A group of Williamstown residents fear that a dry dock near Breakwater Pier will lead to the industrialisation of the area between the pier and the Naval Barracks. This would spoil much of Williamstown's foreshore, and land reclamation could affect other areas of Williamstown and Port Phillip Bay.

UNVEILING OF THE POINT GELLIBRAND
BURIAL GROUND PLAQUE: A BRIEF
OUTLINE HISTORY OF THIS CEMETERY
Evans W P

An outline of the history of a temporary burial ground in Williamstown, which was used between 1842 and 1857 to bury those who died from yellow fever contracted on a voyage from Greenock to Williamstown. Burials of children or spouses of persons already interred in the burial ground were permitted until it became illegal because the ground was never proclaimed for use as a general cemetery. Over 1000 bodies were exhumed and re-buried

REGIONALISATION OF REFUSE DISPOSAL IN THE GREATER MELBOURNE AREA AND PROVINCIAL CENTRES: SOME REASONS WHY

Victoria. Environment Protection Authority. Land Waste Management Branch

A report outlining the basic principles for regional disposal of refuse in response to the progress and interest made by regions in the Greater Melbourne Area and provincial centres throughout Victoria to adopt such an approach. Principles include: 1) security of long term provision of refuse disposal sites within the region for all municipalities; 2) rapid completion of individual sites being filled; 3) earlier return of land to useful service; 4) budgeting of funds over the long term; 5) a cooperative approach to the purchase of plant and equipment thus reducing the burden on individual municipalities; 6) operation of a region under a committee of management, comprising one councillor delegate from each municipality. Operation of regional disposal is outlined in the amended Local Government (Regional Refuse Disposal) Act 1978.

WILLIAMSTOWN FORESHORE DEVELOPMENT STUDY

Kinnaird Hill deRohan and Young The City of Williamstown leases an area of Hobsons Bay adjacent to The Strand from the Melbourne Harbour Trust (MHT). This report identifies 3 possible development strategies for the leasehold to satisfy the requirements of the MHT. The 3 strategies are: 1) a large scale marina; 2) small scale improvement of boating facilities by the construction of a pier just north of the Ferguson Street pier; 3) delay large capital works. The second strategy is recommended to the City Council if it is decided to develop the area.
